HOUSE PASSES NEW CENSORSHIP BILL

'Movie" Men Regard Measure as Victory Over Breitinger.

By a Staff Correspondent HARRISBURG, Pa., May 5.-The House oday passed the Daix bill reorganizing the State Board of Moving Picture Censors. The measure was amended in the House in some of its minor features, and will go back to the Senate for concur-British Retiring at rence before it is sent to Governor Brum-

> The bill is the administration measure. It establishes a censorship board of three persons, curtails the powers of the State censors and reduces the cost of censoring films to $1. The vote on the measure was 180 to 0.

The new photoplay censorship statute, as passed by the House, is a direct victory for the exhibitors and film exchange men of the State, they said today. The bill, which they feel certain will become a law, because it was drafted under the supervision of the Governor, curtails the powers of the censor materially. Under the old law, he had absolute power over all films. all films.

The new law makes it possible to appeal from court fines inflicted for the alleged illegal display of films; reduces the size of fines from $100 to $50 and establishes three censors instead of one.

J. Louis Breitingen the present censor, may be reappointed by Governor Brumhaugh, but the film men and exhibitors will make a determined fight to eliminate him as a candidate.

MRS. CARMAN WINS VICTORY IN TESTIMONY OF WOMAN WITNESS

Neighbor in Whom Prosecution Placed Hope Says She Saw Man Escape Across Lawn After Shot Was Fired.

District Attorney Dumfounded as Mrs. Black Deals Blow at Plan to Prove That Death Stroke Was Delivered From Within House.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 5 .- Sensation after sensation was sprung today in the trial of Mrs. Florence Carman, accused of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, to day, when a new witness upon whom the prosecution placed great hope in helping to convict the defendant gave testimon; which was received as a great victory for

The new witness, Mrs. May I. Black, a neighbor of the Carmans, at Freeport was introduced by District Attorney Smith, following a statement issued by him to the effect that Mrs. Black would testify that on the night of the murder she heard a noise similar to an explosion in the Carman home, but failed to see in the Carman home, but falled to see any one making an escape across the lawn. This fact, according to the District Attorney, was to have substantiated the contention of the prosecution that the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired from within the house, and not from the outside, as is contended by the defense. Mrs. Black testified quite to the contrary. WOMAN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Black testified she lived directly west and adjoining the Carman home in Freeport on June 30 last, when Mrs. Bailey was shot to death there. She said after dinner on that night she and her two daughters went out on the front porch. She placed the time at shortly before S o'clock. It was still light.

Suddenly she heard a crashing of glass, followed by what she thought was an explosion. They came from the direction of the Carman home. She arose and walked around her porch to where she could see the Carman home. She saw no one running through the vard. saw no one running through the yard.

Then she walked down into the yard and over to a tree directly opposite the Carman home. In front of the windows of Doctor Carman's office she said she saw a man standing. She described him as being of medium height and wearing a slouch hat.

Smith was plainly disconcerted by the entirely unexpected blow his case re-ceived at the outset. Mrs. Carman's counsel wers jubiliant. The Freeport phy-sician's wife, who entered court today a trifle paler than at any time this week, was visibly clated. She turned to her husband and daughter, her face wreathed in smiles, as Mrs. Black's cross-examination was completed.

SMITH MAKES FIGHT.

District Attorney Smith at once sought to show that the man she saw was George Golder, who it was brought out at the first trial was in Doctor Carman's office when Mrs. Bailey was killed.

He falled, however, in his attempt to prove the man Mrs. Black saw was Gelder. He placed Golder on the stand.

who told of going to the Carman hom on the night of the murder to get some medicine. He was in the waiting room when he heard a shot. He walked outside by Doctor Carman's window. But he stated positively that he wore a straw hat. Mrs. Black testified that the man she saw wore a soft hat.
On cross-examination Mrs. Black said she did not know what became of the man. She admitted that bushes which grew between where she was standing when she saw the man and the Carman

Mrs. Veronica Hollman, of $512 Dicks avenue, who had stood for hours in the throng before the entrance of 1909, was pushed against a street car wire pole when mounted policemen rode up on the sidewalk in an effort to ease the crush about the doors. Her knee and ankle were injured and she was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital.
